

What do you think about the future, Alessandra?

I do not have many positive thoughts about the future, I see it ugly, especially with the attitude of us guys, today. I'm sure technology will become more advanced.

I think that the situation of waste will improve especially if people spread the message of recycling and waste as little plastic as possible.

Will the world be a better place 20 years from now, Alessandra?

Yes, I think it will be a better place, the world will be richer, there will be fewer wars but especially fewer poor people dying of hunger. Talking about the waste I'm not very sure that in 20 years things will have improved but I think that if people commit themselves by doing the separate waste collection it could also improve the situation that exists today.
